

What Our Diversity
Champions Have to Say

Tom Meyer, Diversity Champion, speaking...

Q: Can you expand on the concept of diversity?

A: “The whole notion of just recognizing what people are and understanding that the value of having a collection of people with different characteristics doesn’t have to be... it can be... threatening, but it can also be an extraordinarily productive thing. And diversity is therefore inherent, I think, in the ability to take full advantage of the workforce or full advantage of our people.”

July 2003

